

Effective Visual Presentations Module

In-Class Activity

We will be watching a couple of short videos in order to complete this activity. The first video talks about body language during a presentation. We will then watch, the first 5 minutes of President Obama's 2004 Democratic Convention speech delivered before he became President. Make a note of how Obama uses some of the techniques mentioned in the first video. Write down the presentation techniques that you notice, and discuss these techniques with your team-members. We will also have a whole-class discussion.
