

GLOBAL ONCOLOGY TALKS

DISPARITIES IN NATIONAL CANCER CARE DELIVERY

The role of health communication, financial hardship, and race

Featuring:

K. "Vish" Viswanath, Ph.D.

Professor of Health Communication
Harvard School of Public Health
McGraw-Patterson Center for Population Sciences
Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

Reginald Tucker-Seeley, ScD

Assistant Professor of Social and Behavioral Sciences
Harvard School of Public Health
Center for Community Based Research
Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

Christopher Lathan, M.D., M.S., M.P.H.

Assistant Professor of Medicine
Faculty Director of the Cancer Care Equity Program
Dana-Farber Community Cancer Center
Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

April 29th, 2014

6:00-7:30 pm

Harvard School of Public Health
Kresge G1 Auditorium
677 Huntington Avenue, Boston

Reception with light refreshments to follow

GOTalksatHarvardhighlightwork at the intersection of global health and oncology in resource-limited settings
www.globalonc.org | globalonc@gmail.com | @globalonc

DANA-FARBER
CANCER INSTITUTE

CFTCC

CENTER FOR FUTURE TECHNOLOGIES
IN CANCER CARE

April is National Minority Health Month