

The poster features a background image of a city street with historic buildings and trees. At the top center is the Boston University logo, which consists of the words "BOSTON UNIVERSITY" in white serif font inside a red rectangular box with a thin white border. Below the logo, the text "AMERICAN POLITICAL HISTORY INSTITUTE" is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font. Underneath that, "2018-2019 Seminar Series" is written in a similar bold, black, sans-serif font, with a horizontal line following it. Below the line, "Wednesdays at 12:20 in History Department Room 504" is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font, also with a horizontal line following it. The lower half of the poster is divided into six white rectangular boxes with black borders, arranged in a 3x2 grid. Each box contains the date of a seminar, the speaker's name and affiliation, and the title of the seminar in a black, sans-serif font. The dates are: September 19, October 24, November 7, February 6, March 20, and April 10. The speakers and their affiliations are: John Rodrigue (Stonehill College), Oscar Winberg (Åbo Akademi University), Jessica Wang (Univ. of British Columbia), Matt Pressman (Seton Hall University), Margaret O'Mara (Univ. of Washington), and Nicholas Guyatt (Cambridge). The seminar titles are: "The Abolition of Slavery in the Lower Mississippi Valley during the Civil War", "Advocacy Groups, Archie Bunker, and Political Television in the 1970s", "Botany, the 'Surveilling' Sciences, and the Politics of American Empire: The United States in the Pacific, 1898-1930", "Tabloid Journalism and Right-Wing Populism: The New York Daily News in the Mid-20th Century", "'The Computer Never Forgets': Lyndon Johnson, Sam Ervin, and the Data Privacy Wars of the 1960s", and "The Pre-History of Carceral Segregation: Dartmoor Prison, 1813-1815".
